Illinois Treasurer Seeks to Reunite Bloomington Area Residents with Assets, Wealth

$14 million waiting to be claimed by residents of McLean, DeWitt, Livingston Counties

SPRINGFIELD – The Illinois State Treasurer’s Office is searching for tens of thousands of Bloomington area residents who have unclaimed property. Through the I-Cash program, the treasurer’s office safeguards more than $2.1 billion in unclaimed property belonging to millions of Illinois residents. Hundreds of thousands of new properties have been reported in recent months, including lost bank accounts, insurance policy proceeds, and utility refunds. Those new reports bring the total available to be claimed by residents of McLean, DeWitt, and Livingston counties to $14,140,710 from 94,157 properties as of January.

“We want to return this property to its rightful owners,” Illinois Treasurer Michael Frerichs said. “Whether it is a savings account someone started for you as a child, or U.S. savings bonds from World War II that your grandparents forgot about in a safe deposit box, the proper place for these items is with their rightful owners.”

Starting April 12, names of 7,713 individuals, businesses and organizations who have unclaimed property worth more than $100 that was reported over the past six months will be featured in newspapers ads across Central Illinois. Those listings represent a fraction of the 14 million properties reported since the program began in 1962 that are waiting to be claimed. All Illinoisans are encouraged to visit illinoistreasurer.gov to search for property and initiate a claim in as little as three minutes. Once the claim is filed with proof of ownership, individuals will receive their property in as little as three weeks. Last year, the average amount returned was $1,000.

Hundreds of thousands of new properties are collected from businesses by the State Treasurer’s I-Cash program each year, so residents are encouraged to check the State Treasurer’s I-Cash database every six months.
